

CURTIS, Mr. HARDING, Mr. UNDERWOOD, Mr. WADSWORTH, Mr. CALDER, Mr. JOHNSON of California, Mr. KELLOGG, and Mr. KNOX. Mr. MARTIN of Virginia. Mr. President, I send to the desk another resolution, which I ask may be read and appropriately referred.

The VICE PRESIDENT. The resolution will be read.

The resolution (S. Res. 408) was read and referred to the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate, as follows:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be, and is hereby, authorized and directed to pay, out of the appropriations for miscellaneous items of the contingent fund of the Senate, the actual and necessary expenses of the Senate committee appointed to attend the funeral obsequies of Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, late a President of the United States, on voucher or vouchers properly allowed by the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate.

Mr. SMOOT, from the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate, reported favorably the foregoing resolution and it was considered by unanimous consent and agreed to.

Mr. MARTIN of Virginia. Mr. President, as a further mark of respect to the memory of ex-President Roosevelt, I move that the Senate do now adjourn.

The motion was unanimously agreed to; and (at 12 o'clock and 15 minutes p. m.) the Senate adjourned until to-morrow, Tuesday, January 7, 1919, at 12 o'clock meridian.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, January 6, 1919.

The House met at 12 o'clock noon.

The Chaplain, Rev. Henry N. Couden, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Our Father in heaven, our hearts are saddened by the news which has gone forth of the death of a great man. A statesman, a writer, a patriot, an ex-President of the United States has passed from the scenes of this earth to the realms beyond. He was great in thought, great in deeds, kindly in his ways, but keen in his conceptions of right. He was a despiser of all things that tend to lessen the good in life. His soul was wrapped up in the life and character of his Nation. He was bold, fearless, and always told what he believed to be the truth. We pray that his like may come again and awaken larger, nobler interests in the world and in life. He was brave, he was fearless, a strength wherever he went. Be with the family, who have suffered much in this war, through the loss of a son and two other sons wounded. Be with them and comfort them in this hour of sorrow and help them and us forward with the hope that that life still lives in the realms beyond, and guide us all by right and truth and justice. In Christ's name. Amen.

The Journal of the proceedings of Saturday, January 4, 1919, was read and approved.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

Mr. HENRY T. RAINEY. Mr. Speaker, in compliance with precedents I am about to make a motion to adjourn; but before doing so, I ask unanimous consent that business in order to-day be in order to-morrow.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Illinois asks unanimous consent that business in order to-day be in order to-morrow. Is there objection?

There was no objection.

THE LATE THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Mr. HENRY T. RAINEY. Mr. Speaker, the country has heard with profound regret of the death of Theodore Roosevelt. Those who could not agree with him politically found in him a ready foe, splendidly equipped to defend the positions he took. He was a man of tremendous energy, a perfect engine of force, and has rendered his country splendid service in the Army, as governor of our greatest State, as Vice President, and as President of the United States. He loved his country, and his long public career as well as his career since his retirement from public life was characterized by intense practical patriotism.

He won for himself an enduring place in literature, and if he had done nothing else than this he would have achieved a distinction which has come to but few men in his generation. His indomitable energy led him into the field of geographic exploration, and if his achievements were limited to that field alone he would have perpetuated his name to future generations. As commanding officer of the Rough Riders in Cuba he demonstrated that he was possessed of the courage and the ability out of which great soldiers are made. His military service, including his fearless demands for a redress of the grievances of the men in the ranks, alone would have won him a place in history. In addition, however, he served with distinction in the naval organization of the United States, and his career as Vice President and President has left an impress upon the history of his country which will endure.

His sturdy Americanism, his intense patriotism in peace and in war, in public office and as a private citizen, will always command the respect and the admiration of this and of future generations.

I send to the Clerk's desk the following resolutions and ask unanimous consent for their immediate consideration.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the resolutions.

The Clerk read as follows:

House resolution 494.

The House having learned with profound sensibility and sorrow of the death of Theodore Roosevelt, former President of the United States:

Resolved, That as a token of honor to the many virtues, public and private, of the illustrious statesman, and as a mark of respect to one who has held such eminent public station, the Speaker of this House shall appoint a committee to attend the funeral of Col. Roosevelt on behalf of the House.

Resolved, That such committee may join such committee as may be appointed on the part of the Senate to consider and report by what further token of respect and affection it may be proper for the Congress of the United States to express the deep sensibility of the Nation.

Resolved, That the Clerk communicate these resolutions to the Senate and transmit a copy of the same to the afflicted family of the illustrious dead.

Resolved, That the Sergeant at Arms of the House be authorized and directed to take such steps as may be necessary for carrying out the provisions of these resolutions, and that the necessary expenses in connection therewith be paid out of the contingent fund of the House.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to present consideration of the resolutions?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER. The question is on agreeing to the resolutions.

Mr. HICKS. Mr. Speaker, before the question is taken, will the gentleman from Illinois yield to me for a moment?

Mr. HENRY T. RAINEY. Certainly.

Mr. HICKS. Mr. Speaker, it is with profound sadness and with deepest sorrow, not alone of the district of which he was a resident or of the State of which he was a citizen, but of the Nation of which he was a part, that I second the motion of the distinguished gentleman from Illinois. The life that has just closed was the fullest expression of Theodore Roosevelt's conception of what life should be. He himself said:

The life of duty, not the life of mere ease or of mere pleasure; that is the kind of life which makes great men, just as it makes a great nation.

His life was a fulfillment of the noble sentiment—

God give us men—

Men whom the spoils of office can not buy,

Men whom the lust of power will not kill,

Men who are honest men, who will not lie.

Men who can stand before a demagogue

And damn his treacherous flattery without wincing.

Tall men, sun crowned, who live above the fog

In public duty and in private thinking.

The SPEAKER. The question is on agreeing to the resolutions.

The resolutions were agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the remaining resolution.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That as a further mark of respect this House do now adjourn.

The SPEAKER. The question is on agreeing to the resolution.

The resolution was agreed to; accordingly (at 12 o'clock and 12 minutes p. m.) the House adjourned until to-morrow, Tuesday, January 7, 1919, at 12 o'clock noon.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, January 7, 1919.

The Chaplain, Rev. Forrest J. Prettyman, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we worship Thee. Thou hast sent forth the spirit of Thy Son to the hearts of men crying "Abba Father." We are Thy children, and we are heirs of God. We would feel not only the sacred obligation but the high inspiration of the call of God to places of leadership and power. We pray that we may discharge our duties as the sons of God to extend Thy kingdom and the spirit of Thy peace among men. We ask it for Christ's sake. Amen.

The Journal of yesterday's proceedings was read and approved.
